

Chemistry towards Biology conference series

Dear colleague,

The Central European Conference series "Chemistry towards Biology" was initiated in 2002 by a meeting in Portoroz, Slovenia. The aim of the series is to promote the exchange of scientific results, methods and ideas and encourage cooperation between researchers working primarily, but not exclusively in Central Europe. The topics of the conferences covers "Chemistry towards Biology" meaning that the event welcome chemists working on biology-related problems, biologists using chemical methods, students and other researchers of the respective areas that fall within the common scope of chemistry and biology.

On this page you will find information about upcoming and past events of the series.
